EMA of BC Indigenous Project Award Eligibility Criteria:

- The project, program, or study needs to be based in BC.
- The organization or business needs to be 50% or more indigenous-owned (including business partnerships).
- Initiatives need to be focused on either 1) Ecosystem conservation or restoration; 2) Environmental studies or research; or 3) Traditional ecological knowledge.
- Projects, program or study must have been initiated or ongoing in 2021.
- Projects need to demonstrate their approximate budget and explain how EMA of BC's $2,000 in funds will be used.

Each organization can submit up to two projects. Submittal of any produced material for the project (such as videos, photographs, interviews, etc) as appropriate is encouraged but not mandatory.

EMA of BC staff and directors will select a winning project and contact the winner. The winning project will be announced in May 2022 and the award presented at an EMA of BC award ceremony during the summer of 2022 – date TBA.

Although we can only give the award to one winning project, we would love to receive applications for all eligible projects. With project owners' permission, after the winner is announced, we will publish a showcase of all applicant projects to celebrate the efforts being made to conserve and enhance British Columbia's unique ecosystems.
